

TEEN SERVICES COMMUNITY SERVICE TEEN BOOK REVIEW

Frost By M.P. Kozlowsky Reviewed by Paraskevi Katsithis

Name: Paraskevi Katsithis

Grade: 7

Book Title: Frost

Author: M.P. Kozlowsky

Number of Pages: 336

Rating (on a scale of 1-5): 5/5

Character List:

- Frost: Frost is 16 and the daughter of Alex. She sees the world through a positive outlook, even though the world is not as wonderful as she reads about. During some point of the book, her father says she is the image of love and hope.
- Bunt: Bunt is a robot created by Alex to protect Frost. He is very straight forward and claims that is because he is a robot and not human. Bunt teaches Frost how to fight with a knife. When he leaves the apartment, he kill eaters and makes sure to find food for Frost and her broot.
- Alex: Alex is Frost's father, the creator of the robots. He knew he was running out of time and put his consciousness in Bunt. As the story progresses, he starts to be more honest with Frost, who deeply begged for answers. Alex worries and definitely cares for Frost's wellbeing.
- Flynn: Flynn, just like Frost, is 16. Flynn had believed there was no hope for a brighter future, until he met Frost. He felt this way because of experiences he faced in John Lord Country. Flynn is unable to be read by facial expressions. Even when there were a huge amount of eaters coming after him, he expressed no sense of fear. Instead, he never changed the pace of shooting at them.
- John Lord: John Lord, also called Good John Lord or Terrorist John Lord depending on how you viewed him. He was always cruel and brutal to the people who praised him, treating them like slaves. John Lord would give people just enough to survive, but always treated the people like dirt, letting the robots toy around with them.

Review:

Frost, the main character who is 16, had spent most of her life in a decaying apartment. Ever since the rogue robots and eaters took over, the streets were no longer a safe place, nor was the outside world. She would read books about the world before all this had happened. The only human Frost had ever seen was her father. Resources such as food, water, and medicine became very rare and vague. During this whole dilemma, her father Alex built Bunt, a robot, to protect Frost from the monsters that lurked around the streets. Alex slowly became sick and gravely close to death, and because of this he put his consciousness inside Bunt. As this was happening, the technology malfunctioned causing her father to fade in and out of the robot. Now that her father was no longer a 'living thing,' Frost stayed cooped up in her apartment with the only creature she had left...Romes, her pet broot.

Years later, Romes became very sick. Going against her father's wishes, Frost went out into the unknown with her robot companion and Romes. Knowing the dangers of the outside world, Frost still risked her own life to save Romes, who had always been there for her. Along the way Frost met a man and a boy her age. At first the two rejected the trio, but alas, they finally agreed to help Frost and her friends out.

Frost is a science fiction, romance, and action book. Frost follows the theme of having to take a chance and risking things for the greater good. The author M.P. Kozlowsky takes you, the reader, on a journey with Frost as she fights to live and survive the world and its dire circumstances. M.P Kozlowsky does a great job describing the world and makes it very easy to picture every scene in the book. I believe teens who love action, and science fiction will deeply enjoy the book as much as I did.